LOURENS RIVER REHABILITATION

Contractor: Urban Landscape Solutions

- SALI Gold Award for Environmental Landscape Work
- SALI Gold Award for Landscape and Turf Maintenance

What the judges said: "Project entails a further phase of this large-scale flood alleviation project. The first phases established a very scientific approach to harvesting locally endemic plant species from upstream and propagating it for use in the rehab project and these processes were further deployed in vegetating this project. It's an awesome example of environmentally responsible rehabilitation work, and the dedication on the part of the contractor is clear. The indigenous landscape is establishing well in accordance with the original intent, with minimum feeding and watering. The project was exposed to heavy flooding just prior to judging and areas were damaged, but it was evident that the vegetation assisted in keeping large areas of the stream embankment intact."
